

History

The Institute has been established in the year 2002 in Shimla, once the summer capital of British India and presently the capital of Himachal Pradesh and called the queen of hills and paradise of tourists. The educational institutions of this cosmopolitan centre have been attracting students not only from India but also from the neighboring countries.

Mata Bhakti Devi Welfare Society has been established not only to perform welfare activities but also to impart quality education, especially professional education to the women student community. An enthusiastic group of dedicated and farsighted Philanthropists joined hands to fulfill a mission-to educate the needy & gentle poor masses of the hill state, thereby enabling and empowering them to successfully face the forthcoming multi-facet challenges of the globalised market economy in a be-fitting manner. A renowned visionary, an academician for excellence, Late Pt. Shaligram Jee, a recipient of the President Award and the State Award in the field of education, was the founder chairman of this society. He has devoted his life to spread education and raise the values of life in society.

Initially B.Ed for Girls and Art & Craft Courses were started in the institute. The tradition of devotion and dedication towards the cause of society has been furthered by Shri Shiv Kumar Dogra, presently the Chairman of College Management Committee. The Institute has made many strides under his dynamic stewardship by adding new courses of D.El. Ed (JBT), BBA, BCA, BSc. Nursing, M.Sc. Chemistry, B.A.LLB. (5 Years) and LL.B (3 Years) in a relatively small span of Five Years. Under his able guidance the institution can boast to have enhanced physical facilities including smart classrooms, Wi-Fi campus, well equipped modern & spacious laboratories, well stocked library and well maintained play ground. Apart from this, recently the hostel facility for 100 girls has also been added. The institution is also providing transport facility from Shimla to its day scholars.

History of Shimla

Shimla is Capital Town of Himachal Pradesh. It was formerly the summer capital during the British Rule. The town of Shimla is built over several hills and connecting ridges. The important hills are Jakhu (8050 ft), Prospect Hill (7140 ft), Observatory Hill (7050 ft), Elysium Hill (7400 ft), and Summer Hill (6900 ft). There is a great controversy over the origin of the name Shimla. The name Shimla was derived from 'Shyamalaya' meaning blue house said to be the name of house built of blue slate by a faquir on Jakhu. According to one version Shimla takes one of its name from 'Shamla' meaning a blue female another name for Goddess. The place was on the Jakhu Hillside, there was a temple of Goddess Kali. During the British period the idol of the Goddess was shifted to a new place, now famous Kali Bari Temple. It was only in 1819 A.D. that the then Assistant Political Agent of hill states Lt. Ross set up first British residence. His successor Lt. Charles Patt Kennedy erected the first pucca house in 1822 named after Lt. Kennedy as Kennedy House'.

Shimla has been blessed with all the natural bounties, one can think of. Dwelling on a panoramic location, the hill town is surrounded by green pastures and snow-capped peaks. The spectacular cool hills accompanied by the structures made during the colonial era create an aura, which is very different from other hill stations. Shimla retains its colonial heritage, with grand old buildings, among them are the stately Viceregal Lodge, Charming iron lamp posts and Anglo-Saxon names. The Mall, packed with shops and eateries, is the center of attraction of the town and scandal point associated with former Maharaja of Patiala's escapades, offers a view of distant snow clad peaks. In 1946 leaders of the Indian nationalist movement came to Shimla for a crucial conference that paved the way to Independence. Shimla's legacy of British control has left in somewhat of Aesthetic anomaly: an Indian town, a state capital, no less but looks and feels like a village in Northern England.

In 1864 Shimla was declared as the summer capital of India. After Independence Shimla became the capital of Punjab and is presently the capital of Himachal Pradesh.
